Fast-Track Life Sciences Business Development With Venue®

Work more efficiently and cut costs in the race to get drugs to market.

With the total cost to develop and gain marketing approval for a new drug estimated at $2.6 billion over 10 to 12 years, you have no time to waste. Donnelley Financial Solutions (DFIN) is your ideal partner to speed up the process and reduce costs, all with world-class security and service unique to the industry.

Why Venue?

Cutting-edge technology and cloud solutions to identify, facilitate, accelerate and finalize every growth opportunity.

Secure, instant and remote access to all project content from any browser, with no additional downloads or plug-ins.

Streamlined project management from a single, cost-effective, user-friendly platform.

Seamless sharing of key documents, notes and comments with partners in real time, with 24/7 coordination.

Expert project managers available around the clock to resolve issues and deliver solutions at a moment's notice.

Quality control and world-class, global security permissions to ensure the right players review the right content.

Manage your projects — from sales and marketing to clinical trials — and keep your partners and your board up to date with Venue.

How can we help life sciences companies transform their business?

Sales and marketing

- Quickly and securely share material among review functions — legal, regulatory, medical and commercial review functions.
- Save time and money on distribution.

Clinical trials

- Leverage Venue as a secure project management platform to manage interactions with contract research organizations and other vendors.
- Quickly access and review contracts and licenses 30-90 percent faster using our industry-leading artificial intelligence software.

Board books

- Share key presentations and documents with your board in advance of board meetings.
- Transform antiquated PDF and PowerPoint books into a dynamic, interactive experience with video and other media directly from our solution.

Alliance management

- Share key documents and presentations with your alliance partners in a virtual shared space with timely document uploading.
- Allow every player to make comments on shared documents.
- Rest secure knowing that documents will never be emailed to the wrong people.
